Happy Father's Day "My Dad's Better"

Three boys were debating whose father was the best. The first started the debate by claiming his father knew the mayor. He was soon topped by the second boy who said; "that's nothing. My dad knows the governor." The stakes were getting pretty high, and the eavesdropping father wondered what his young son would say about him. The little boy shot back, "So what my dad knows God." Could your son say that? May our children always be able to say, "My dad knows God!"
