THE CRITIC

A little seed lay on the ground,
And soon began to sprout.

“Now, which of all the flow’rs around,”

It mused, “shall I come out?”

The lily’s face is fair and proud, but a trifle cold.

The rose, I think, is rather loud, and then, its fashion’s old.

The violet is very well,

But not a flower I’d choose.

Nor yet the Canterbury bell—I never cared for blues.”

And so it criticized each flower,
This supercilious seed,

Until it woke one summer morn—
And found itself a weed! —Author
